

KARMIC FURY

EPISODE 2: THE AUDITION

When we last saw our hero, Sue was practicing her ass off on her new guitar.

The next day, Sue was on her way to an audition.

Because you didn't ask!
Because it shouldn't matter!

It seems he thought "S" stood for Steve or something else masculine

I'm auditioning!
It's my guitar!

She launched into a fiery solo as the guitar pulsed beneath her fingers.

She has since started perusing ads, hoping to join a rock band.

This is the dude who opened the door.

Fine. Waste my time.
Come in.

All of a sudden...

KARMIC FURY!!

She replied to one ad.

I'm a rock guitarist who has been playing for 20 years and would like to audition. -S

Why didn't you tell me you were a chick?

The rest of the band was waiting in the other room.

The rage began to boil as she tuned the guitar.

The guys were suddenly in a club. But they weren't quite themselves. They weren't guys at all.

What the hell?! We're... women!!

Just then, the manager approached.

You ladies are on in 5 minutes!

They got on stage in front of a packed house

Show us your tits!

Come on girls! Don't keep me waiting!

The band froze and began to sweat. The crowd continued to heckle.

Go back to the mall!

The band ran off stage and fled the club.

Let's get out of here!

And suddenly they were back in the band room.

They listened in awe as Sue flew through a scorching guitar riff.

FLASH!

The room was silent for a moment after she finished. Then the band leader spoke.

Killer solo! Want to jam?

No! I do not want to jam!

I'm sorry we were such assholes to you!

Whatever, Good luck.

Good luck to you!

Ha! I don't need your luck!

KARMIC FURY, ASSHOLES!

